From the Bench Special Judge Selection

Prepared By Hon. Michael G. Gotsch and Hon. Steven Hostetler

At the beginning this year, the Indiana Supreme Court implemented a major change to the procedure for selecting a special judge. Notably, the former process of naming a panel of judges was revoked because it was found to be too time-consuming and ultimately ineffectual in selecting a special judge. The revised Indiana Trial Rule 79 provides two ways to select a special judge: (1) by agreement of the parties, or (2) by local rule. Additionally, local courts were advised that the Supreme Court would not approve a local rule that merely re-implemented the former panel striking process.

In response, the St. Joseph County Courts approved Local Rule LR71-TR79-216, which became effective on January 1, 2014. The revised local rule provides the parties with three ways to select a special judge: (1) by agreement; (2) by striking from a panel at a Striking Conference; or (3) by random selection by the Clerk of the Court.

By Agreement. Under §216.1, the parties have seven (7) days after the granting of a motion for change of judge is noted on the CCS to attempt to reach an agreement as to the selection of a special judge.

This first subsection provides the parties more flexibility than the prior procedure of striking from a panel of three (3). While the original presiding judge is ineligible to serve as special judge, the parties now have the latitude to agree to any of the Superior Court judges with civil dockets, the Circuit Court judge, or either of the Circuit Court magistrate judges. This typically allows the parties to select from a panel of at least six (6) judicial officers.

Striking Conference. §216.2 provides that if within seven (7) days the parties file a "written agreement" indicating that a special judge has not been agreed upon, or have agreed to a striking conference, the regularly presiding judge shall conduct a striking conference within seven (7) days. §216.2 spells out detailed procedures for the striking conference. Counsel should note that in such a striking conference, the procedure of striking from a three (3) judge panel comes back into play.

Random Selection. Finally, if the parties do not file any written agreement (including an "agreement" indicating that they were unable to agree upon a special judge), or if a selection conference is not timely conducted, or if conducted the conference does not result in the selection of a special judge, under §216.3 the Clerk randomly selects the special judge. It is interesting to note that the parties may also agree to such a random selection process under §216.3(c).

The new rule concerning selecting a special judge may take some getting used to. Accordingly, it is recommended that Counsel familiarize themselves with the new rule as soon as possible.

The Clerk's Corner

By Terri Rethlake

ODYSSEY CASE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM
BEGINS MARCH 31, 2014!

As I am writing this, training of the Clerk's Civil & Small Claims Clerks has begun. This system will be brand new for most of the staff. Please be patient as we adapt to this system. The Low system has been functioning for us since the late 80s. It will take time for us to get used to all the nuances of the Odyssey system.

Since it will take us longer to put a new case in, Small Claims clerks ask the attorneys who bring in pre-dated filings 45 days before the court date they receive. If they are brought in at the last minute, there may not be enough time to have the claims served.

Since we will have to set up our judgments in the Odyssey System, we will not be receipting in garnishments the last week of March. We will establish all accounts in the cases we received money from in March. We will then begin to receipt in on April 1st.

Attorney/Firm party names & frequent businesses you represent will be established in Odyssey before go live also. This will help in getting cases filed quicker.

On that note, any attorney or law firm that receives funds from this office MUST have a W-9 on file to receive checks. If that information is not in the Odyssey system, check(s) will not cut. Please send or bring in the W-9 to the basement Clerk's Office!

Correction: Post Conviction Relief Last month, I stated a new civil case needed to be filed for misdemeanor PCRs. This is still the case, however just as in felony PCRs no filing fee assessed.
